Role of “4Ps” (Police, Public, Press and Prosecution) in crime Investigation and maintaining Internal Security

Dr. J. R. Gaur
M.Sc., Ph.D., MIAFS, MEMSI, MISCA, MFSSI, Ex-MBAFSc.
Director, School of Forensics, Risk Management & National Security, Rashtriya Raksha University

Police

- Should attend to public complaints immediately.
- Should have minimum (A few Minutes) response time for reaching at the scene of crime.
- Should register FIR on the basis of facts.
- Should investigate crime cases impartially.

Public

- Should protect the scene of crime till the arrival of Police.
- Should shift the injured immediately to the hospital but should not disturb the scene of crime.
- Should come forward to become witness if saw the crime occurring.
- Should intimate the facts to police without any concoction.

Press

- Should not enter the scene of crime till it is not examined by Police and Experts.
- Should photograph the scene when allowed by the Police.
- Should publish and telecast realistic reports only.
- Should not sensitize the case and start media trial.

Prosecution

- The challan should be meticulously checked before putting in court.
- Should present the facts and circumstantial evidence along with reports to the courts of law.
- Should thoroughly prepare and present the case evidence and argue on the merits.
- Should properly assist the court for reaching at logical conclusions.
- Adjournments should not be taken on frivolous grounds and should close arguments at the earliest.