EXTENDED INTERNSHIP PROGRAMME (EIP) GUIDELINES

To encourage students to undergo internships, the university has rolled out the extended internship programme to do the internship during the ongoing semester in addition to the regular internship breaks. The purpose of this extended internship programme is to gain worthwhile experience OR to secure a job at the end of the internship OR if it is an important internship under a prestigious organization.

The guidelines for the programme are as follows:

- Any student of RRU may apply for this programme.
- Under this programme, a student can go for a maximum of 2 months (60 days or 08 weeks) internships during ongoing semesters on top of the regular semester breaks (vacations) throughout an academic year.
- The student can take a 2-month internship at one go or split it in two different periods during an academic year. The student can take one-month internship in each semester as well.
- The students will not be given exemption from attending end-semester if the internship dates are falling during the end semester examination.
- Before going for the Extended Internship Programme, the student has to take prior written approval from the Course Coordinator, School Director and Internship & Placement Section of the university.
- The students shall receive the attendance for the classes missed; however, the student has to self-study the academics which is missed during the full-time internship.
- The programme applies for full-time onsite internships only. It is not applicable for online or work-from-home internships.
- If the student has not taken the prior written approval from the above mentioned three concerned authorities, then the student will not receive any attendance from the university for the classes missed during the internship period.
